Tough stand taken — coaches banned

By Frank Ryan
The Heritage Junior B Hockey League has taken a tough stand against discipline problems.

Both Connelly Dunham and Preston Yachimec who coached the Drayton Valley Devils last season, have been banned by the league.

President Gordon Grange of Lacombe says all five teams, with the exception of Drayton Valley, voted for the ban.

According to Grange, the ban was imposed because the league felt the two coaches didn't have control of their team during the league and at the provincial tournament.

The Devils, who chalked up an impressive 30-2 win/loss record in league play and were eight and four in the playoffs, were the most penalised team in the league. Players sat out a total of 50 suspended games last winter.

"We just can't have this. We have to start somewhere," Grange stated.

Both Dunham and Yachimec who shared the coaching duties in their first year boiled the bench, were suspended for five games each last year.

When Yachimec was informed of the ban by The Western Review last week, he replied, "You're kidding."

Yachimec called the penalty severe.

Up until learning of the ban, Yachimec says he was still considering returning as the Devils' coach. Now, he's unsure of his coaching future.

Commenting on the club's discipline problems during the year, Yachimec said, "I didn't think they were that bad." However, he did agree with the league's concerns over the team's performance at the provincials.

Grange told The Western Review members of the Devils were involved in fights, both on and off the ice, and made fools of themselves.

Yachimec laid the blame for a lot of the player discipline problems on their earlier minor hockey days.

"They got away with things at the lower leagues.

It's pretty hard to get them to change their ways," he remarked.

The talent the Devils assembled last year was also a factor, according to Yachimec.

The former NAIT goaltender said everyone was out to get the Devils.

In many games during the season he felt that way. Opponents were told to "go out and get this guy and that guy."

Another factor the

as delighted as store owners are about the prospect of returning to the books when school starts up in two weeks.

Derrick Boxing Club in need of new home

The Derrick Boxing Club has a serious problem that may decide their future.

The club, one of the oldest in Drayton Valley, can't find facilities for the upcoming season.

Lawrence Duperron told The Western Review his club had hoped to use the gym at the Evergreen school, but he found out last week that it's not suitable.

"It's not looking good at all," he said.

The gym at Evergreen school was part of their recent renovations, and because of that, there's no place in the gym for the boxing club to hang their punching bags. Plus, there's limited storage.

Last year the club was forced out of the schools due to the loss of the Evergreen gym because of renovations. The boxing club rented space in town, but that has since been occupied by a furniture store.

"A lot of times I feel like saying the hell with it, but I can't do that," Duperron added.

With the start of the boxing season just a month away, Duperron needs space. If anyone has a building the Derrick Boxing Club could utilize, please call Duperron at 542-5441.

Besides being one of the oldest clubs in town, it's experiencing tremendous growth — with 47 fighters last year, and early indications are the figure will top 60 this winter.

Victim on critical list

A 72-year-old woman is in critical but stable condition at an Edmonton hospital after being hit by a vehicle in front of the new Saan store Friday night.

Ethel Thomson of Drayton Valley was transported to University Hospital in Edmonton and is in an intensive care unit.

The driver, a man in his early twenties, has not been charged although the accident is still under investigation, said RCMP spokesmen.

RCMP said they could not comment further on the incident until after the investigation's conclusion.

The store, located on 50th Street across from the Shell Oil service station, opened its doors for the first time on Thursday.

The Edmonton weather office is predicting some sunny weather for the area this week.

Tuesday's forecast is calling for scattered morning showers turning into sunny skies later in the afternoon. Highs near 17 C and lows near 4 C are expected.

Wednesday will be mostly cloudy with a 40 per cent chance of precipitation. A high of 17 C and a low of 5 C have been forecast.

Thursday should be mostly sunny with a high of 19 C and a low of 5 C.

Friday's forecast is for mainly sunny weather with a 40 per cent chance of rain. Highs of 20 C and lows of 7 C are predicted.

The Park Valley swimming pool will close Aug. 31 for their annual maintenance. It's scheduled to re-open Sept. 8.

According to town manager Manny Deol, TriAlta has okayed Drayton Valley's switch from the Evergreen Tourist Association to Battle River.

Surveyor stakes were erected on the property north of the Towers Medical Clinic last week. According to one of the surveyors, a convenience store is scheduled for the site.

Originally 7-11 was reportedly interested in the site, but rumors persist that 7-11 has made an offer to purchase Mike's Food Store.

One of the new additions at the Evergreen school will be a fire lane around the building, similar to the H.W. Pickup junior high school.

Carrington-O'Brien Foods Ltd. of Drayton Valley has received $4,944 from the Canada/Alberta Agricultural Processing and Marketing Subsidiary Agreement. The funds will go toward a $23,000 modernization of an in-store meat processing operation at the IGA store.

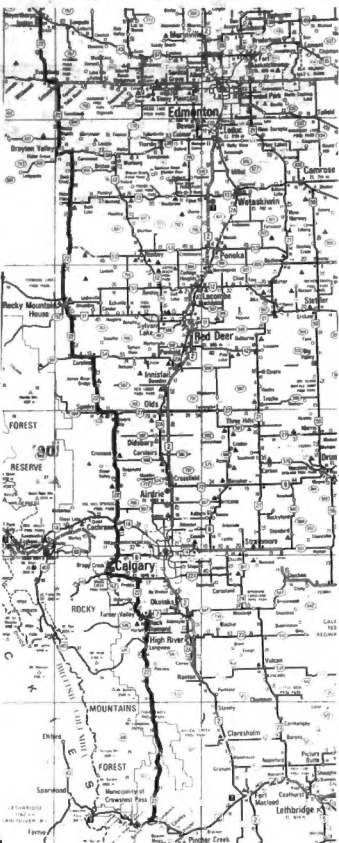

And, Fisons Western Corporation of Seba Beach will receive $201,675 under the same agreement for the modernization and expansion of their peat moss processing facility. Total cost of that project is $807,000.

The small sign attached to a post near the 'Welcome To Drayton Valley' sign at the north end of town belongs to the Masons. However, a club spokesman says he has no idea who put the sign up and if it will be taken down.

The water show originally planned for Thursday night at the Park Valley Pool has been postponed until January. As a result, the pool will be open Thursday night for public swimming.

Momentum growing

New group aims at Highway 22 tourism

By Frank Ryan
Momentum is growing for the completion and promotion of Highway 22.

Last month a new organization aimed at promoting the highway and developing its tourist potential was formed.

The Mountain View Tourism Development Association was created as a result of interest sparked by highway promoters in Caroline and Cremona. Since that first meeting, support has come from Sundre, Rocky Mountain House, Cochrane, Drayton Valley and Evansburg. The City of Leduc has also expressed interest in taking out a membership.

One of the association's first priorities, according to president Reg Dean of Caroline, is to get three sections along the route upgraded. One of these is a 17-kilometre section between Drayton Valley and Rocky Mountain House and two sections between Caroline and Sundre.

Brian Patton of Cremona, the association's secretary-treasurer, is busy with a market research paper. Communities up and down the highway, from Mayerthorpe in the north to Lundbreck in the south will be contacted as Patton plans to assemble an events calendar and get a listing of major attractions.

The association, just a month old, has also established membership, sales and legislative committees.

But because the traffic the highway is already generating, Dean and his group are pushing for some road work.

Drayton Valley MLA Shirley Cripps expects to see the section near Rocky Mountain House paved next year.

She said both Ponoka MLA Halvard Jonson and Rocky MLA Jack Campbell have expressed concerns over the condition of the 17-km gravel section that affects their areas.

"I catch more hell over that stretch of road, and it's not even in my constituency," Cripps told The Western Review.

When town council meet next month, they are expected to consider the $500 application to join the Mountain View Tourism Association, as it will generate more traffic into the area.

One concern the town and chamber may look at, is the interest expressed by the City of Leduc. According to Dean, it's Leduc's intention to grab some of the traffic coming up 22, instead of seeing it go through Drayton Valley.

Chamber of commerce

Town survey over

The survey portion of a local retail survey has been completed.

Robert Wolff says the residential and business survey was finished late last week. Now, a report will be made to the chamber's economic development committee and a summary will be made public in mid-September.

Wolff says he is satisfied with the response, although it will be well below earlier expectations.

Because of summer holidays, Wolff says about 50 per cent of the survey have been completed. This includes about 1,000 from households and 100 from out-of-town residents.

... Coaches banned

Devils coaching staff had to face, was criticism from parents. Yachimec says that when they tried to discipline players, the parents got involved, and blamed the coaches.

Devils manager Harvey Allen, who attended the league meeting where the ban was imposed, said all the teams complained about the Drayton Valley team.

Besides banning the two Drayton Valley coaches, the league fined the Devils $300 for late score sheets.

As a result of the ban, Allen says he is willing to take over the coaching reins, but needs some executive help. He's also concerned about the player possibilities.

Interested players are asked to call Allen at 894-2103. This year, each team will be allowed to sign three over-age (21 year olds) players.

The 40-game regular season will start in mid-October.

Principal group meeting

Central Albertans affected by the failure of the Principal companies have been invited to a public meeting of depositors and investors in Edmonton on Wednesday, Aug. 25, Edward Romaine, chairman of the Principal Depositors' Protective League reports.

The meeting, at the Northlands AgriCom beginning at 7 p.m., is expected to bring together several thousand Principal depositors from throughout Alberta.

Host organization is the Principal Depositors' Protection Association of Edmonton.

Romaine said all members of the Central Alberta location, headquartered in Red Deer and representing depositors in Central Alberta, are being urged to attend the meeting, organized to give depositors and investors a first-hand report on organized activity conducted on their behalf by regional depositor organizations.

Diaper changers

One of the new attractions at last Saturday's Drayton Valley Agricultural Fair was the diaper change. Twenty fathers and grandfathers lined up to see who could make the change in the quickest time. The winner was Sandy Trapp, who put a diaper on Astra MacDonald. This was the scene as the fathers raced against the clock.

Building permits

Drastic increase

Building permits for the month of July totalled $661,000.

This was a drastic increase over last year's $420,500 but well below the '85 figure of $1,144,549.

After seven months, building permits issued by the Town of Drayton Valley totalled $3,786,080 compared to $3,210,800 for the same period last year.

The July figures included $661,000 for eight residential starts.

So far this year 53 permits have been issued for residential building, up from last year's seven-month figure of 45.

Harvey Allen to take reins?

Banning Devils' coaches a severe penalty

Junior hockey in Drayton Valley has been dealt a serious blow.

Connolly Dunham and Preston Yechimiec, who volunteered their time to coach the Devils last winter, have been banned by the Heritage Junior B Hockey League.

Gordon Grange of Lacombe, the league president, says the action was taken because the league didn't feel the coaches had control of their team last year. According to Grange, the Devils were the most penalized team in the league and were an embarrassment at the provincial tournament, fighting on and off the ice.

The decision to ban the two coaches drew an unanimous vote from the five other (Drayton Valley was not allowed to vote) teams in the league.

Despite all the fighting and suspensions the teams chalked up last season, the two Drayton Valley coaches are the only ones being banned.

"We just can't have this. We have to start somewhere," Grange said.

It's a pretty severe penalty to say the least. Especially for two volunteers who gave their own time, in order to provide junior hockey for the young men of this community. If they hadn't come forward last September, Drayton Valley may have pulled out of the league.

The loss of Dunham and Yechimiec could result in the loss of a junior B team here this year.

Harvey Allen, manager of the Devils last year, has indicated he would take over the coaching reins if he could get some executive backing. And, if there's enough players.

Just when the league is indicating they plan to crack down on discipline problems that have plagued them for years, they've decided to allow each team to sign three over-age (21 years of age) players. That's just asking for trouble.

And, if the Heritage Junior B Hockey League is so concerned about their image, maybe they better look at the officiating.

Teams in Hobbema, Rocky and Rimbey get officials out of Red Deer while Drayton Valley referees come out of Edson and Hinton. Their styles are different as night and day.

The message coming from the Heritage Junior B Hockey League is loud and clear. Clean up your act, or else.

Let's hope they go beyond the coaches and players, and get some consistency into the officiating ranks. That alone, would reduce the number of penalty minutes.

No signature — letters go in garbage

It's hard to find suitable words to describe the scene at the Tornado Disaster Relief Centre in Edmonton.

During my recent vacation, I spent two days sorting men's clothes at one of the centres.

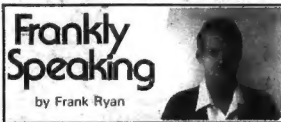

The building, near the municipal airport on Kingsway Ave., was about 10 times larger than the DV Arena.

The donations of clothes, furniture and appliances was fantastic. Just when our department thought we had all the clothing sorted, another truck load arrived.

One thing that impressed me was the good quality clothing that was donated. At least 95 per cent was usable.

Golfing also made up a big portion of my holiday.

Some of the courses we played included

Rimbey, Lakewood (near Sylvan Lake), the new 18-hole Red Deer River Bend course, Innisfail, Didsbury, Kananaskis where we were fortunate enough to play both the Lorette and Mt. Kidd courses, Dawson Creek and Grande Prairie.

If you're planning on playing the Innisfail course, get a cart. It's hilly. The new River Bend course is also very challenging.

And, if you want more information on Kananaskis, ask Joe MacLellan about Lorette's sixth hole. He put five balls in the water on that hole. It's the same hole that was featured on the CBC's PAR 27 last week.

We appreciate letters to the editor...if they are signed.

Upon receipt of a letter, the signature is checked first. If there's no signature it goes into the garbage.

A couple of letters were on my desk last Monday upon returning from holidays. The writers, who took the time to put their thoughts down on paper, didn't have the courtesy of a signature. So, they went into the garbage.

Hospital's quality should be applauded, writer says

Dear Editor,

In times of substantial provincial government cutbacks in health care, it is indeed a pleasure to comment on an institution where quality has certainly not been sacrificed because of quantity restrictions.

The institution I speak of is the Drayton Valley and District Health Complex, or as it is more commonly referred to, the hospital.

A hospital is a unique entity in that people are aware it exists; are generally apathetic to show it exists; but sure as hell demand the best from it when they are affected personally through illness or injury. And when the only press in recent times has been negative, it sure feels good to have something nice to say.

On Aug. 7 my mother was afflicted with a severe attack of pancreatitis, resulting in her immediate hospitalization. The treatment was swift and sure — relieve the intense pain, restore some reasonable level of comfort and attempt to discover the cause of the attack.

Notwithstanding the symmetry of a hospital, I feel it necessary to single out and applaud the expert diagnosis and treatment of Dr. Betcher and the excellent nursing care of the staff of the medicine unit. It is difficult to remember the names of all who have rotated shifts through medicine in the past course of treatment and I dare not start mentioning names for fear of omitting someone.

But to those of you who have been exposed to Mrs. Wells I offer sincere appreciation and thanks and say to you that you are indeed professionals, deserving of the highest praise and much more recognition than is normally afforded the nursing profession.

Any stay in hospital is traumatic enough without being 3,000 miles from home and knowing a handful of people. Good nursing care will ease this tension but only exceptional nursing care will eliminate 'hospital fear'.

When my mother's comments include: 'These girls are the greatest; I am totally at ease here; They don't do enough for you; I must have surgery then I want to have it here; They are so pleasant and mannerly and show so much respect.' I know she has experienced exceptional nursing care.

For my part, the more than frequent trips to the hospital were pleasantly tolerated and always resulted in full disclosure of my mother's condition. It would be an understatement to say that did much to relieve the tension felt personally here in Drayton Valley, back home in Newfoundland, and by the remainder of the family.

Simply put — thanks again for making mom well. Jim and Pam Wells

Around the province...

Pit bulls banned

The northern Alberta community of Berwyn has passed a bylaw banning pit bulls.

They are believed to be the first municipality in Canada to enact the order right ban.

Meanwhile in Red Deer, city council has been told they don't have the authority to ban a particular breed of dog. Council opts to wait a similar debate going on in Edmonton.

Mining people

Recent census in Rimbey show 1,728 people...down 368 from a year ago.

The town was ordered to do a recount earlier this year after a discrepancy of 320 people was noted between federal and municipal figures.

What's your opinion?

Two Drayton Valley men have been banned from coaching in the Heritage Junior B Hockey League. The ban was imposed because the league felt the two didn't have control of their team — the Devils.

Across county

Students begin school next Wednesday

Motorists are reminded that school's about to start.

Students attending schools in the County of Parkland return to classes next Wednesday morning.

That's also the same day St. Anthony's school students return to classes in Drayton Valley.

However, County of Leduc students don't go back to school until Tuesday, Sept. 8.

One of the biggest changes facing students attending the four public schools in Drayton Valley will be the shorter lunch hour and earlier dismissal.

Students attending

Frank Maddock high, H.W. Pickup and Evergreen (formerly Elementary B) will start classes at 9 a.m. daily.

Both Evergreen and H.W. will dismiss students at 3:10 p.m. with students at the high school getting out at 3:15 p.m. Classes begin at 8:55 a.m. at Eldorado and get out at 3:05 p.m.

The shorter lunch hour will also affect St. A's as classes start at 9 a.m. with the final bell sounding at 3:15 p.m.

When classes resume next Wednesday, students will only put in a half day before returning for full days on Thursday and Friday. Then, it will be a three-day holiday, as Monday, Sept. 7 is Labor Day.

Students attending the County of Parkland schools can also look forward to a 15-day break at Christmas and a 10-day spring vacation in late March.

Parents who have students riding the buses should check with the county regarding their new schedule.

The official opening of the renovated Evergreen school is tentatively scheduled for November.

$25,000

Grant size surprising — society

The Drayton Valley and District Agricultural Society has no immediate plans for the $25,000 it recently received from the provincial government.

Although the large grant is not committed to any specific project, society president Bob Domke says he has earmarked the money for a building fund.

"I'm surprised we got that much," he said.

The $25,000 was part of a series of grants announced two weeks ago by Alberta Agriculture in conjunction with the Western Canada Lottery Foundation.

A total of $100,000 was awarded to agricultural societies in the surrounding area.

Domke, head of the local society for the last three years, said his reason for joining the club was to one day have his dream of an agricultural arena realized.

He was unable to give an estimate of the cost or possible date for completion of such a facility.

Domke said he would not comment at this time when asked if he was contemplating donating the money to the Community Centre Society, a group attempting to construct a joint arena-curling rink in town.

The agricultural society, presently consisting of 12-15 active members, did not have to apply for the grant, which is made available to all active societies.

The grants do not have to be matched and can be applied to any area of the society, including debt retirement, programs, operations or capital improvements.

Wherever reliability is critical... in the skies or in the farm field, air-cooled engines are the choice. That's why Deutz-Allis tractors from 43 to 145 horse-power and 1187 rotary diesel combine feature Deutz air-cooled diesel engines.

Air-cooling means no radiator, water pump, hoses, coolant or corrosion to worry about. These components are the source of 40% of all engine problems. Because less power is needed for cooling, Deutz air-cooled diesels use about 20% less fuel than most liquid-cooled diesels.

Deutz air-cooled engines have been proven to warm up faster and run more efficiently than liquid-cooled engines from the Arctic to the deserts. This saves wear and tear, and extends engine life. Plus, the unit cylinder design allows individual cylinder repair without removing the engine.

Just Who Is Deutz Anyway?

Contrary to the popular North American misconception, there was never a nineteenth century engineering genius by the name of Deutz. Nor were there the amazing Deutz brothers. And no, Deutz isn't an acronym that represents a group of people or ideas.

Deutz is a German village that can be traced back to times before Christ. Andant Roman walls still border parts of this town sitting on the Rhine across from the German Cathedral.

It was in this village, during the 1830s, Nikolaus August Otto and Eugen Langen did the research, development and fabrication of what has come to be recognized as the first-ever engine.

While the name, Langen has largely passed into history, Nikolaus August Otto is recognized by anyone who has ever taken an automotive class course, as the inventor of the four-stroke concept called the Otto Cycle - the basis of all modern internal combustion, reciprocating engines. (This, of course led to the advent of the automobile, the automatic transmission, and eventually, cottoned insurance in the Province of Manitoba.)

By the early 1880s, August Otto had already invented the four-stroke or four-cycle engine, but he was unable to make the new gas engine reliable. In 1884, Otto entered into a partnership agreement with 21-year-old Eugen Langen, a trained engineer. The new company was at first called N.A. Otto & Co. In the town of Deutz they set up the world's first factory for manufacturing petroleum powered engines.

It was acknowledged in advance of the event that the 1887 World Fair, to be held in Paris, would designate exactly who would receive honors to continue development of internal combustion engines. Several individuals and engineering firms from around the world had entered various types of engines in the world competition.

The Otto-Langen engine was judged to be the most advanced and most efficient. It won the gold medal and along with it, the legal basis to patent the four-stroke or Otto cycle and parallel developments.

In 1872 the factory was expanded to meet public and industrial demand for the engines. It was in this year the company was renamed Gasmaschinenfabrik Deutz AG, and two more famous engineers joined the firm. Gottlieb Daimler and Wilhelm Maybach spent the next decade working with Otto and Langen to make the gas engine back to industrial products. Both young engineers later went on to establish their own successful motorcar companies.

By 1890 the original atmospheric gas engine with free-piston piston had been adapted for use in the true four-stroke engine was ready for market. Several thousand of these engines were sold in that year including some to the North American market via Philadelphia. Within a decade, over 20,000 Deutz gas engines would be in operation. Shortly after the four-stroke was introduced, Clark and Bent employed Otto's flame ignition in their two-stroke engine.

Beginning in 1872, Otto and Langen worked with the Crossley brothers in England to improve carburetor systems for the gas engines. In 1884 they officially joined forces with Robert Bosch, again to further develop air-gas induction systems. The poorly-refined petroleum products of the nineteenth century created real problems for the designers of ignition and carburetor systems. Looking back, it seems the fact actually formed the great invention of the time to work together to overcome common problems.

In 1882 another famous inventor of the period came to the Deutz company for assistance. Rudolf Diesel had already made good progress with his oil-burning, self-igniting engine. At this time, efforts were being made everywhere to improve the engine Rudolf Diesel had invented and which bears his name.

With the Deutz technical assistance, Diesel was able to put an industrially applicable version of the engine into production in 1898. Diesel then contracted Deutz to produce their first engine in quantity.

The Deutz firm continued research and development of Rudolf Diesel's idea, and in 1912 brought out the sixteen solid injection diesel engine. This twelve-cylinder engine was to serve as the basis of more modern advances in the diesel field, including those by Robert Bosch. From the day the first engine came off the assembly line, the Deutz company worked not only in the research and development of internal combustion engines, but also their practical applications. Indications are Otto devoted his situations to research while Langen concentrated on the business aspect of selling engines and installing them in various stationary and mobile machines.

The Deutz company, at an early date, was designing and building machines for mining, manufacturing, land transportation, agriculture and, eventually, water transportation. Although there is no information available for the period from 1913 to 1925, it is assumed the company would have continued to production of military equipment during World War I and was then faced with a major rebuilding and conversion back to industrial products following the war.

In 1920, Deutz merged with the engineering firm of Humboldt to form Humboldt-Deutzmontoren AG. The Humboldt firm brought with it extensive mining and industrial experience. In 1928, the newly-merged firm acquired the major truck firm known as C.G. Mylius. Throughout these years of expansion, Peter Klockner was the driving force behind the company. The 1928 move reflected this fact as the new company became known as Humboldt-Deutz AG (KND), the official corporate name of the company to this day.

Although the idea had been played with earlier, the Deutz company didn't start building air-cooled diesels until 1944 when they built engines for military applications. The idea was that regardless of the climate or terrain, an air-cooled engine was less likely to break down than a liquid-cooled engine. It wouldn't freeze or overheat. Also, an air-cooled engine wouldn't have a radiator which would be exposed to bullets and shrapnel. The same line of thinking applied to the military version of the original People Car, now known as Volkswagen.

Following the war, the plans for almost total destruction. Reconstruction was slow but steady. Within a decade, the parts of many of its feet and, again, production of air-cooled diesel engines for agriculture, manufacturing, mining and transportation. Under the Deutz-Fahr trademark, KND gradually developed a complete line of agricultural implements powered by the air-cooled diesel engines.

By the late 1960s, Deutz-Fahr was recognized as a major manufacturer of farm implements for the European market and the company was beginning to open up markets in other industrialized nations and also underdeveloped nations around the world.

Today, Deutz-Fahr offers a complete line of farm implements powered by air-cooled diesel engines. The Deutz name has become synonymous with fuel efficiency, reliability and longevity. These three positive factors are considered by many farmers to outweigh the big negative factor of high initial cost.

Exciting finish

Edson team undefeated in slow-pitch tournament

By Frank Ryan
Edson Eagles went undefeated in collecting top money at the Family Ties slow-pitch tourney last weekend.

The Eagles won three games in the preliminary round, then won three more in the playoffs last Sunday at West Valley Park to win the A division title and top money of $650.

They downed the Skuzz-Balls, also of Edson, 9-1 in the final after defeating Hinton Wayouts 9-0 in semi-final play and OK Tire of Rocky Mountain House 8-2 in their first playoff game.

The Skuzz-Balls settled for second-place money of $450 with Hinton going home with $300 and the Scrubbers, a combination of Pelican Spruce Mill employees from Edson and Drayton Valley collecting fourth-place money of $100. The Scrubbers dropped an extra inning 15-14 decision to the Skuzz-Balls in the other semi-final game.

While the A final was a lopsided affair, both the B and C division titles were nail-biters.

Same As hung on for an exciting 6-5 win over the Edson Moonlighters in the B final while the Left Overs scored four runs in the bottom of the 8th for an 11-10 decision over the Breton Outlaws in the C final.

The B final was close all the way, as Same As, a collection of Drayton Valley players, led 4-3 after the fifth. They added two in the sixth, which proved to be the margin of victory. The win was worth $400 with the runners-up collecting $300. Ol-Sio, who dropped a 9-8 decision to Same As in semi-final play collected $150 and Family Ties were fourth and won $75. The host dropped a 10-9 squeaker to the Moonlighters in their semi-final game. Maria Hunt and Kevin Becker provided most of the heroics for the Left Overs, another Drayton Valley team.

In the last of the seventh with the Outlaws leading 7-0, Becker reached first on an error. When the dust had cleared he was racing to third. An attempted pickoff went wide, and he raced home with the tying run, sending the game into extra innings.

In the top of the eighth, Cliff Ellis gave Breton the go ahead 10-7 lead with a bases loaded single.

But the never-say-die Left Overs fought back in the bottom of the eighth. With one run in, Hunt's single sent two runners home to tie the game, then Becker singled in Hunt with the winning run.

The come-from-behind win was worth $250 with the Outlaws collecting $150. Dja, who lost 11-6 to the Outlaws placed third and collected $75 while Baird, who lost 8-8 to the Left Overs, were fourth, which was worth $50.

Diane Carby of Hinton and Larry Swap of the Family Ties were selected as the tournament's most valuable players, based on their performance in the three preliminary games last Saturday.

Dawn Urchysbyn won a silver medal in the girls 15 and 16-year 100-metre breast stroke.

Left to right, Darcy Lauder, Ryan Wilson competed in the 200-metre free-style relay for boys 11 and 12 years of age. Unierschultz, Mike Smeland and Daniel Steve Oscar churns up the water in the boys 15 and 16 year old individual medley.

Swimming

Neptunes collect three medals

The Drayton Valley Neptune swim club collected three medals at the provincial last weekend in Edmonton.

Dawn Urchysbyn won the silver medal in the girls 15 and 16-year old 100-metre breast stroke.

Carla McGinn and Tim Regnier came home with bronze medals in the eight-and-under category.

McGinn won her's in the 25-metre back and Regnier took the bronze in the 25-metre breast.

The Neptunes capped off an outstanding season by sending 26 swimmers to the Alberta finals.

Urchysbyn had placed second in the 100-metre breast at a St. Albert meet the previous weekend, which was where the swimmers had to qualify for the provincials.

McGinn was also second in the 25-metre back at the St. Albert meet while Regnier had won the 25-metre breast at the qualifying swim-off.

Streak ends

DV United split

Drayton Valley's senior soccer team saw a 78-game undefeated record end last Sunday.

DV United, formerly Caesar's, played a double-header at Whitecourt, winning the opener 3-0, then dropping the second 1-0. It was their first loss in 79 matches spread over 3 1/2 years. It was also the first time in several years that Drayton Valley was shutout.

Newcomer Chris Duffey had two goals for DV United in the 3-0 win. Martin Stoklassa added the other.

DV United, who currently occupy first place with a 7-1-1 win/loss/tie record played without two of their top scorers. Chris Kelly is sidelined with a fractured foot and Mark Euckland has a separated shoulder. The split leaves Whitecourt with a 6-2 win/loss record.

On Sunday, DV United travel to Edson.

Volleyball

H.W. Pickup holds training camp

Volleyball camp participants and coaches gather for a group picture.

H.W. Pickup school was host to 36 eager volleyball players from areas all over Alberta last week.

They came to participate in a co-ed volleyball camp which ran all day Monday through Thursday.

The main purpose of the camp is to teach the basic fundamentals and skills of volleyball," explained H.W. Pickup coach and teacher Calvin Monty.

The kids, ranging from Grade 7 to 11, travelled from Grande Prairie, Wembley, Didsbury, Wildwood, Evansburg, Entwistle and Tomahawk to join a handful of Drayton Valley players at the camp.

Five coaches from around Alberta were in attendances including Monty. Ron Zimmer from Grand Prairie made the trip, along with Don Zimmer of Grand Trunk school in Evansburg, Mark Thompson of Onoway and Pat Rehn from the University of Alberta.

The group learned two skills a day and played actual games. The skills they'd picked up were put to the test on the camp's final day through tournament play said Monty.

"We do work them hard, since it's only four days and there's an incredible amount to learn," he said, adding the improvement he's seen in the kids has also been incredible. Adding a bit of a breather to each day's activities prizes were drawn for at lunch hour just for fun.

The volleyball camp has been held at Grand Trunk school for the past five or six years, therefore many of the players from that area attended the camp. The Grand Trunk team has been very successful in bringing home the provincial championship Monty explained, and admitted he's hoping with the camp held at H.W. Pickup this season his team may run into the same luck.

Slow-pitch

Season winding down

The slow-pitch season is winding down.

Stan Zimmerman says the '87 season will end on Aug. 29-30 with a tournament. At least 32 of the 96 teams in the league are expected to participate.

In the past three years, slow-pitch in Drayton Valley has expanded from seven teams to 36.

Zimmerman says that number could climb to 48 next summer, although diamonds could be a problem in May and June. "We may expand to get more people involved," Zimmerman explained.

The reason for the growth of the game according to Zimmerman, is the family sport concept. In Drayton Valley, he says the teams are split 50/50 between company and family players.

Birchwood centre Construction begins next year

Construction is scheduled to start next April or May on a new $1-million leisure centre at Birchwood Village Greens.

The 13,966-square-foot two-storey building will include a pro shop, spike room, sauna, 28-by-50-foot pool and accompanying wading pool on the main floor with a banquet room and kitchen planned for the second floor.

The leisure centre, just one of many changes planned by the new owners of Birchwood Village Greens at Lindale, will hopefully be ready by August of '88.

The leisure centre will be for residents who purchase one of the 535 lots up for sale at Birchwood.

Sale of the lots went well during a recent open house. Sales manager Harry James said they had interested buyers from Calgary, Vulcan and Nanton along with a phone call from some people as far south as Lethbridge. James also said that a lot of Drayton Valley and area residents had expressed interest in buying a lot.

Flett brings in $6,000

The Beehive Workshop will receive somewhere in the neighborhood of $6,000 to $6,500 in proceeds raised at the recent Cowboy Bill Flett Charity Golf Classic according to organizer Norm Swendsen.

Although figures are not yet finalized Swendsen was able to provide The Western Review with an estimate.

More than 100 golfers including 18 celebrities teed off at the Drayton Valley course recently to raise money for the developmentally handicapped.

Calling the classic a real success he said, "My estimate (prior to the event) was $6,000, so we're right in the ballpark."

Once the numbers have been confirmed a cheque in that amount will be presented to the Drayton Valley Association for the Handicapped he explained.

Bowling season ready to begin rolling

Twilight Bowl's Dan and Lorraine Sieben.

Get your bowling shoes on...the '87 season is just around the corner.

Dan and Lorraine Sieben, who are heading into their third year at Twilight Bowl have made some major improvements and have some ambitious plans for the upcoming year.

The lanes have been totally re-done and new pins have been installed.

League play will start on Monday, Sept. 14.

Instead of phoning the teams as they have in the past, the Siebens are offering a trip for two (including travel and accommodation) to Palm Springs to teams who registered by Sept. 4.

"It's easier for the teams to get together on their own, instead of our staff calling each and every bowler," Lorraine Sieben said. Participation in leagues at the lanes last year numbered 120 teams.

And, another draw will be made for teams who pay their membership fees during the first week of bowling.

Plans also call for a ladies coffee league, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. and the Golden Age league will be expanded to three days a week from two days last year.

People usually get what's coming to them — unless it's been mailed.

Senior baseball

National championship scheduled for Red Deer

The Canadian senior baseball championships will be held at Red Deer this weekend.

Six teams are involved in the three-day tournament which starts Friday at 10 a.m. with the official opening set for 7 p.m., followed by the Red Deer Riggers, last year's Alberta and Western Canada champs meeting the Windsor Chiefs.

Last year, the defending senior baseball champion Chiefs defeated Red Deer 2-1 in the final.

Action at Red Deer's

Great Chief Park will resume on Saturday and Sunday at 10 a.m. Four games will be played each day.

The B.C. representatives will be the Vancouver Puchals who beat the Bellingham B.C. champs, Victoria, 18-2 in the opening game of their provincial final.

And, the Maritime reps will be the Moncton Mets, with former Montreal Expo pitcher Bill Spaceman's Lee on their staff.

General meeting

Minor hockey arena concession considered

The Drayton Valley Minor Hockey Association is interested in operating the arena concession.

President Hal Anker says the possibility will be discussed at a Sept. 2 general meeting.

"We're kind of interested," Anker says. However, one of his main concerns is volunteers to work in the booth. "Some people would rather pay higher registration fees than work on a project like this," he added.

The Sept. 2 meeting at the Rec Plex will also adopt a new constitution and sign up coaches for the upcoming season. An executive decision to drop the three travelling team tournaments and league tours will also be replaced with house

Olympic

Wilf Sleno, 70, shows the form that led him to the gold medal in horse shoes at the Alberta Summer Games this month. Sleno has been active in the game since he retired and has col-

Terry Fox Run slated

The annual Terry Fox Run, a national event geared to raising funds to fight cancer, will be held in Drayton Valley Sunday, Sept. 13.

Participants can run, walk, jog, bike, wheel or ride in the event, sponsored every year by the Canadian Cancer Society, the federal government and Four Seasons Hotels.

Anyone interested should show up at the Scout Hall next door to the swimming pool.

The run takes place between 1 and 4 p.m.

Organizers urge that participants make this year's run twice the success by being along a friend.

Organizer Pamela Schaub says she is hoping the fundraiser will equal that of the 1986 edition, when 70 people took part, and more than $2,100 was raised to fight cancer.

Participants are required to present their pledges to organizers at the start of the race.

Free refreshments and a swim at the indoor pool will be made available to everyone following completion of the run.

For more information, contact Pamela Schaub at 542-4278 or 542-5380. Or call Paul Neilson, Town Recreation Director at 542-5327.

Thrift shop increases hours to meet growing demand

The Thrift Shop, run by hospital auxiliary volunteers, has increased its hours to meet with customer demand.

"We extended our hours because of the public's need," with people working during the day the evening hours allow them to shop at the store, said Libby Mohn, auxiliary volunteer.

In operation over 15 years in Drayton Valley the shop's hours were 1 to 4 p.m. Wednesday and Friday, but recently were increased to 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. every third Wednesday of the month.

The new Wednesday openings are very popular according to Mohn, who added another favorite day for customers is $5 bag day, falling on the last Friday of every month.

Bag day enables shoppers to fill a bag with merchandise and pay a mere $5 charge, no matter what the actual cost.

The Thrift Shop is run entirely by volunteer staff, with profits going to the Drayton Valley hospital said Mohn.

"Money goes towards buying extra equipment for the hospital not provided for by the government," she said, adding "the best example is the handi-bus."

All merchandise at the shop is received through donation and is not taken on a consignment basis Mohn said.

"We get so much stuff, we're never short, some days we're just swamped. We're grateful for anything — I mean absolutely anything".

Mohn explained they will accept all donations whether it be clothing or any household goods.

Donations may be dropped off anytime at the Thrift Shop located at 518-45-51.

The Thrift Shop houses a selection of clothing for all ages.

Tourist booth closing

The chamber of commerce tourist information booth will close its doors for the winter following the September long-weekend.

All summer long the staff have provided tourists and vacationers with information on holiday spots, but as the vacation season drops off the need for the booth does also.

Staff member Valerie Soli explained visitors to the booth have already been "cut in half" in the month of August compared to June and July figures.

Approximately 25 to 30 people a day would stop by the booth earlier in the season, but now the numbers are down to 10 or 20 she said.

After a summer working for tourist information Soli concluded the three main vacation spots tend to be Banff, Drumheller and Jasper.

More donations made

Two and a half truck loads of clothing, furniture and food were donated by Drayton Valley and area residents to Edmonton's disaster relief centre.

Gordon Hamilton of Red's Express, who hauled the goods into Edmonton confirmed the amount last week. Two loads included just clothing.

Financially, upwards of $1,400 was collected.

Local fined

A Drayton Valley resident was handed a 14-day jail term for a charge of driving while over the .08 mg blood alcohol limit.

Lyle Ekroth pleaded guilty to the charge last Thursday in Drayton Valley provincial court.

Edmonton service

Bus driver needs support

Joe Thompson has some major concerns. The Drayton Valley resident is the owner/operator of AJT Livery Service.

For several weeks now, he has been providing passenger/taxi service in and out of Edmonton.

But his biggest concern of late, has been the lack of traffic. "We've gotta have the support of the people to make it go," Thompson said last week.

While traffic out of Edmonton for Drayton

Valley has been a little slow, Thompson hopes the addition of Breton and Warburg will help.

Every Wednesday and Friday, AJT Livery leaves the laundromat in Breton at 7:45 a.m. and the C&co station in Warburg at 8 a.m. for Edmonton. The return trip is made from the Breton Street entrance at West Edmonton Mall (No. 6) at 6:50 p.m. and at the Greyhound Depot (front door) at 7:15 p.m.

Service will also be provided to Drayton Valley.

Breton and Warburg on Sundays with a 6:20 p.m. departure from West Edmonton Mall and from Greyhound at 6:45 p.m.

AJT Livery also provides Monday service to Edmonton, leaving the Greyhound office in Drayton Valley at 8 a.m., Breton at 8:35 a.m. and Warburg at 8:50 a.m.

With summer holidays winding down, Thompson is hoping that his traffic counts will improve.

Believes political reasons dictated age group cuts

By Megan Parker
Local optometrist Dr. Alan Smith sees the provincial government's decision to drop medicare coverage of eye exams as the beginning of the de-insuring of health care coverage.

"They're trying to de-insure people through Alberta Health Care, yet they raise our premiums," he said.

As of Aug. 1, routine eye examinations for those aged 19 to 64 were de-insured. Those under 19 and older than 64 are still insured.

Smith believes political reasons dictated the age groups cut.

"I'm sure the only reason they didn't de-insure children and pensioners is because the public outcry would have been four times as loud."

Following Hospitals Minister Marvin Moore's initial announcement he said medically-necessary eye examinations would be covered for patients of all age groups.

Calling the term "medically necessary" a loophole, Dr. Smith is concerned with how it will be defined.

"What is medically necessary - to me blurred vision is a medical necessity," he said.

If an examination is deemed necessary, new Alberta Health Care guidelines state only op-thamologists will be reimbursed for the service.

Smith believes people may put off eye examinations due to the expense even if they're experiencing blurry vision for example.

"There are a lot of things that can be detected through eye examinations," he explained, adding "referrals to an ophthalmologist can be made on the basis of their findings - whether it be for high blood pressure, diabetes, tumors or cataracts."

Visits to an ophthalmologist will mean a trip into the city, as they are only located in major centres. Smith said, which in turn will incur further cost to the patient.

An unfavorable response from the public is what will bring action by the provincial government, said Smith.

"People must write letters saying they believe eye examinations are a medical necessity and that it should be included in Alberta Health Care."

According to Smith, the Alberta Optometric Association has been trying to get public response for a year, but haven't been very successful.

"As long as people aren't concerned I'm going to be paid one way or the other - by them or by the government."

Cripps

Final report is released

Associate Agriculture Minister Shirley Cripps has announced the release of the final report of the Alberta Agricultural Development Corporation Review Committee.

The review committee was formed in 1986 to conduct hearings and receive submissions related to the future role and mandate of the Alberta Agricultural Development Corporation (ADC) and to assess the general farm financial climate which exists in Alberta today.

The report, entitled 'Options and Opportunities for Agricultural Finance in Alberta', contains 42 recommendations for government consideration.

Cripps stated, "After reading and reviewing the contents of the report, I am convinced the question of agriculture finance is one of the key issues in long-term agriculture policy. We must now make some in-depth assessments and evaluations on these specific recommendations to determine exactly what ADC's role will be for the future."

"At the same time, I encourage all farm groups, organizations and individuals to provide me with input and comments on these recommendations."

"The committee has made it clear that encouraging producers to take on more debt is not the answer to farmers' financial difficulties. Debt write-downs are not generally supported and moratoriums are counterproductive. Other options need to be explored more fully such as equity and vendor financing and debt restructuring, where a realistic work-out plan is achievable."

"I am pleased the committee endorsed the continuation of a beginning farmer loan program as the government has no intention of abandoning the concept and will give serious consideration to the committee's recommendation to extend the present incentives."

"The committee recognized the importance of the secondary processing industry for development of Alberta's agriculture sector to aggressively promote and develop the agri-food industry."

Cripps concluded, "The agriculture industry is the government's number 1 priority and will continue to receive support and assistance as part of our economic growth strategy."

Crow benefit

New program for grain farmers

Our office has received several calls relating to the Alberta Crow Benefit Offset Program (ACBOP), formerly the Alberta Feed Grain Market Adjustment Pro-

Below is information and several points producers should be aware of regarding this program.

The AFGMA program ended June 30 and the ACBO program began July 1. The one major change is the payment which is down $8/ton from $21/ton to $13/ton. Policies and procedures are still basically the same as the previous Alberta Feed Grain Market Adjustment Program.

The Alberta Crow Benefit Offset Program, like the AFGMAP, has three options: farm fed, certificate and both. If you are feeding all your own farm produced grain you would be under the farm fed option. Under the certificate option you would be buying all the grain being fed to your animals. The third option, both, combines the first and second options.

Producers registered under the farm fed option should be aware of the following points:

- re-registration is not required; you will automatically be enrolled if you have been on this program prior to July 1, 1987.

- claims submitted on or before the Sept. 30 deadline will be processed and paid according to the AFGMAP procedures ($21/ton). You would be claiming for grain fed from the end of your last claim date to June 30.

- claims may be made for grain fed to feeders and/or slaughter cattle to June 30 even if they have not yet been sold by completing a Request for Adjustment form. This would allow for a payment of $21/ton for grain fed to June 30. You will still be required to submit a complete claim form once you have sold your materials.

- claims may be submitted quarterly (once every three months beginning July 1 or once (July '88) at the end of your grain feeding period.

- adjustments and amendments on your registration are only required if there is a major change from last year's operation. Contact your nearest district agriculture office for forms and information.

- Producers registered under the certificate option of this program should be aware of the following:

- if you were previously registered under the program under the certificate option you will have already received re-registration claim forms and ACBOP certificates. Please complete and return these as soon as possible. After completion of these forms you can then use the certificates to purchase feed grain.

- AFGMAP certificates ($21/ton) may only be used until Aug. 31, 1987 when paying for eligible feed grain which was on account and delivered to your premises prior to July 1, 1987. Any feed grain purchased and delivered after June 30 must be paid for using ACBOP certificates ($13/ton).

- all unused AFGMAP certificates which you have received must be accounted for. Please return them to your nearest district agriculture office or mail them to head office by Sept. 15.

This is especially important for those feed users who are registered under both options and who have or will be submitting a June 30 claim. Your final claim on home grown grain will not be processed until all your certificates are accounted for. Also, you will not receive more than the two ACBOP certificates mailed to you until such time as you close your file under the AFGMAP. All producers that are feeding home grown grain and also buying grain must submit a claim.

Producers registered under both options are required to follow procedures as set out for the farm fed option and the certificate option.

Any producers not presently registered under the ACBOP but would like to be can drop by the district agriculture office for information and registration forms.

As well, producers who are registered under the program should complete their claims for grain fed to June 30 immediately.

Our district office staff can help you with these forms but please call us first. This will avoid long line-ups and wasting your valuable hours. Please call us between 8:15 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. for more information and to discuss the status of your registration/claim file.

Wild 'n wacky

The annual Winfield Ugetuk Fair held Aug. 15 and 16, was a huge success. MLA Shirley Cripps (top right photo) was on hand to enjoy the fair and meet the constituents. Everything from chicken races, harness racing, parade and highland pipers was enjoyed by young and old alike. Rusty Thurber (centre photo) of Winfield was crowned Ugetuk King.

Consumer Affairs

Be sure before signing on dotted line

We've probably all come across door-to-door salespeople before.

This form of direct selling could be a convenience or it could be an intrusion if a persistent salesperson refuses to leave your premises.

Alberta Consumer and Corporate Affairs suggests that if you should open your door and find yourself face-to-face with a door-to-door salesperson, remember not to make a purchase or sign a contract, unless you can answer 'yes' to all of the following questions:

- Have you asked for and seen the salesperson's direct selling license issued by Alberta Consumer and Corporate Affairs? It specifies what he is allowed to sell.
- Do you really need the product or service?
- Does the cost fit into your budget?

- Have you comparison shopped to know that you are getting the best quality at the best price?
- Are you sure you're not being pressured into buying?
- Have you read and understood the contract?

- Are you familiar with the reputation of the salesperson's company?
- Does the company have a permanent office location to which you can refer in the event of problems with the product?

- Will the company provide maintenance and repair service?

Who must be licensed?

Door-to-door salespeople, as well as the company they sell for, must be licensed under the Licensing of Trades and Businesses Act and the Direct Selling Licensing Order.

There are a few exceptions however - a farmer, or his employee, selling produce which he raised in Alberta does not require a license. Nor does a person selling securities or investment contracts when that person is registered under the Securities Act or the Investments Contracts Act, or a student selling magazine subscriptions authorized by the school's board of trustees. If you sign, then change your mind.

If you make a purchase for $25 or more from a door-to-door salesperson in your home or place of business, the Direct Sales Cancellation Act allows you four days to reconsider your purchase.

This means you may cancel the contract not later than four days after the date you receive your copy of the contract (which you must receive within seven days of signing).

Consumer and Corporate Affairs suggest the best way to cancel is to write a letter and personally deliver or mail it to the seller. If mailed, it's a good idea to register the letter. The notice of cancellation is considered to be given at the time of mailing. A reason for cancellation is not necessary.

You may also cancel a contract within one year of receiving your copy if the seller was not licensed at the time the contract was signed. As well, contracts signed in your home may be cancelled for non-delivery of goods or non-performance of services.

If you require more detailed information about laws for Albertans give me a call at 542-5868 or stop by my office - Alberta Agriculture, Provincial Building, Drayton Valley.

Shaves celebrate 50 years

By Shelli Carson

Ray and Janet Ellis visited Tim and Barb Ellis of Edson last month. While there they watched Tim play ball with the Edson Saints at a tournament in Peers, winning two of three games. They were also there to greet Barb's relatives from Quebec.

Tim and Barb Ellis brought her parents, Bob and Audrey Whittaker and brother Danny, Aunt Wilma and cousin Laurie to the home of Tim's parents, Ray and Janet Ellis. This was the Whittaker's first trip to Alberta. They visited Jasper and Edmonton. The annual Ellis reunion was held at the Funnell Centre Aug. 2, with 59 people in attendance. The Whittakers returned Aug. 6 to Green Field Park, Quebec.

George and Nellie Shave celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary July 19 at the Breton Community Centre. About 75 family members attended the supper, with all George's brothers and sisters able to attend.

Gunnar and Muriel Hanson and Velma and Fred Greenwood attended the annual Huntley reunion Aug. 2 at Bushy, AB, at the home of Elwood and Barb Huntley.

Facelift

While it was business as usual, the Alsike Store was undergoing some major exterior changes, as crews worked on the roof and siding. The Alsike corner is one of the busiest in the area, handling traffic bound for Drayton Valley, Breton and Leduc.

Due to poor weather, many of the family members were unable to attend.

Relief short-lived

Average temperatures for July normal

After being worried earlier this summer that crops were going to burn up in hot, dry weather, many Alberta farmers are now hoping the rain stops so they can attend to harvest.

Although conditions are generally considered too wet, farmers will need warm, dry weather in the next few weeks to help crops mature and to complete combining.

Concerns about dry conditions in Alberta, through June and into July were replaced in late July by concern about severe weather, says a specialist with Alberta Agriculture in Edmonton.

Peter Dziukowski, agricultural weather resource specialist, says above normal rainfall in the second half of July brought relief from the dry conditions experienced early in the month.

However, the relief was short-lived, as the last days of July brought severe weather, which included hail, heavy rainfall, high winds and a tornado in Edmonton and area.

There was flooding reported in the southern part of the Peace River block.

"However, most of Alberta's agricultural producers had adequate to good moisture conditions in July, and the average temperatures for the month were normal," he says. "Calgary, Coronation and Lethbridge received twice the normal rainfall amount for July. Pincher Creek was the wettest spot in Alberta, reporting 148.3 millimetres of rainfall, three and a half times the 45 millimetres normally received in July. Most other areas had near or above normal July rainfall amounts."

The specialist says overall, July was a month of generally improving weather conditions for agriculture.

"This changed drastically at the end of July for those who got hit by severe weather," said Dziukowski. "Weather conditions during the first week of August have been wet and cool in central and northern Alberta, but drier in southern Alberta. Now that moisture is not a problem, growers are on the outlook for frost."

 Celia Kidner of St. Albert is visiting her son, Leonard Kidner. Also visiting is his sister, Dorothy Veness of Westbrook, B.C.

ton to view some of the damage done by the July 31 tornado.

Norm and Glenn Johnson exhibited cattle at the Mayerthorpe fair Aug. 8. Joe Clark and Richard Greenwood were dignitaries at the parade and with the exhibitors as well.

Dave and Dorleen Banks and family have had her sister Sheila and nephew Robert visiting for a few days.

Brightwood Cemetery once again had volunteers clean up the grounds Aug. 11. It was discovered that pictures on the headstones have been damaged as well as the previously reported damage. Sias and Margaret Wolosyn, along with some of their children, spouses and families were camping and fishing at Ashland Dam for a few days.

Personal service and attention

Students in Drayton Valley can "get together" with a tutor and other students from communities hundreds of kilometres apart and take university credit courses, all through the magic of teleconferencing.

Athabasca University offers five teleconference courses this fall in communications, philosophy, economics, psychology and administration. The registration deadline for these courses is Sept. 4. Courses start the week of Oct. 6 and finish the week of Feb. 2.

In education, teleconferencing is used to reduce travel time and costs for students and instructors. Telephone lines, sophisticated switching equipment at the university's central office in Athabasca, and special equipment in Drayton Valley make it possible for students in different communities to study together.

Every second week for 16 weeks, students attend teleconference sessions at the local centre. During the sessions, students report on and discuss with each other and their tutor what they have learned from assigned reading and exercises. Students may call their tutor on alternate weeks for person-to-person discussion.

Students registering in a teleconference course receive a specially designed home-study learning package consisting of textbooks, study guide, student manuals, and other required course materials. The costs of materials and tutorial service is included in the registration fees.

Athabasca University is one of Canada's fastest growing universities. According to students, the major reasons for its popularity are its personal service and attention, and the flexibility they have to create a university program that suits their career, family and community schedules.

GREETINGS FROM THE SUPERINTENDENT

WELCOME BACK

M.W. Thiesch
Superintendent of Schools

Another carefree summer has almost passed and the excitement of a new school term is building.

From the beaming youngster who enters class for the first time to the sophisticated grade twelve student who appears ready to challenge the world, the anticipation of new learning opportunities is readily apparent.

The teachers too, reflect a positive, infectious energy as they gear up to present a quality of schooling second to none.

Committed teams of school support staff and central office personnel are caught up in an increased pace of activity as expectations are generated for another successful year.

Parents and community members also sense the change of pace and begin preparations for changed routines at home and in the community.

This general excitement is positive and essential in a society that values its life style and its freedoms. For we all know that universal public schooling is the basic foundation which supports our quality of life. It is through the education of our youth that we realize the opportunities of the future.

I believe the County of Parkland Public School System is committed to children and quality and I am proud to be a part of it.

I hope every one associated with youth and schooling will share in the enthusiasm and promise this school year has to offer.

MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIRMAN

Vi Helm
Chairman
Drayton Valley

GREETINGS

As we enter a new school term the Board of Education extends an invitation to all public school supporters to renew the partnerships which strengthen our schools.

We invite parents to show an active interest in their children's schooling because we know that success in learning is greater if parents become involved.

We invite the general public to make inquiries into local school activities because we believe a better informed society is more supportive of the value of public schooling.

Knowing that students will enter our schools this September with enthusiasm and a thirst for learning, we believe that our staff, both professional and support, will strive to foster partnerships which produce the best schooling experiences available.

The Board of Education is proud of its schools, the people who serve in them, and the students who pursue learning in the classrooms. We also appreciate the very positive support that parents and members of the public have given to the school system in the past.

In this school year the Board will continue to work for a better school system so that public trust may be maintained and so that our youth experiences continued growth and success.

Sincerely
Vi Helm
Chairman
Board of Education

Alberta only foreign member

Province has viable, vital industry

Associate Agriculture Minister Shirley Cripps says Alberta's lead role in working with directors of agriculture in 14 U.S. states has gone a long way in promoting trade and working relationships between the two countries.

Cripps made the observation at the end of a recent four-day meeting of senior state and Alberta agriculture officials which wrapped up with a tour of southern Alberta.

The associate minister said members attending the annual meeting of the Western Association of State Departments of Agriculture (WASDA), of which Alberta is the only foreign member, are now interested in inviting Saskatchewan and B.C. to join.

The associate minister stated, "During the six years Alberta Agriculture has been an associate member of WASDA I believe we have shown our U.S. counterparts we have a viable and vital agriculture industry. Because of the cooperative and productive relationship WASDA has with Alberta, the association is now anxious to have British Columbia and Saskatchewan departments of agriculture as associate members."

Cripps made her comments in Lethbridge as the directors of agriculture from seven U.S. states and their officials completed a one-day tour of Alberta's livestock, crop and food processing industry.

The tour was part of WASDA's annual meeting

MLA Shirley Cripps

which began in Kalspell Aug. 1 and moved to Alberta Aug. 4 for the tour.

The state directors of agriculture are the equivalent to Canada's provincial ministers of agriculture. Cripps attended the Kalspell meeting as co-host with Keith Kelly, director of agriculture in Montana and president of WASDA.

Other annual meeting delegates included Tommy Irvin, commissioner of agriculture for Georgia and president of the National Association of State Departments of Agriculture (NASDA), and state directors

Alberta's participation in the 1987 annual meeting and ongoing involvement with directors from both the western and national associations of state agriculture have provided many mutual benefits.

Cripps stated, "This contact helps cement the friendship between WASDA and Alberta and the experience has prompted an invitation to our provincial neighbors — Saskatchewan and B.C. — to participate.

"Our membership in WASDA has also brought us in contact with a broad spectrum of regional agricultural leaders in the United States. It has certainly helped raise awareness among our American colleagues of the scale and quality of the agriculture industry not only in Alberta but in Canada."

Alberta's work with WASDA has also helped facilitate two-way trade development between the two countries. As ties grew between the departments of agriculture so did the ability to direct industry toward new market opportunities.

Following the Kalspell portion of the annual meeting, representatives from Montana, Georgia, Utah, Idaho, Nevada, New Mexico, Alaska, Hawaii, Washington, D.C. and the presidents of WASDA and WASDA arrived in southern Alberta for a full-day tour hosted by the southern Alberta agriculture and food processing industry.

As the guest of Cripps, state directors had a first-hand look at Alberta special crops, traditional crops, hog and cattle operations and visited Canbra Foods processing plant in Lethbridge. Agriculture Canada's Research Station.

Fire Permits Required April 1 - October 31

"BURN MY WINDROWS? NOT 'TILL FALL... LESS CHANCE OF GIVING A FOREST FIRE A PLACE TO START"

When it comes to burning windrows some people prefer to burn in the spring... others the fall. We recommend a fall burn for some very good reasons, including the fact that burning in the fall takes advantage of shorter days, higher humidity and cooler weather.

Follow the rules for safe burning. Keep fire equipment within easy reach. An axe, two shovels, water backpack and a 45-gallon barrel of water is the minimum you need. Dry, clean and tightly packed windrows will burn cleaner. If there is no wind, light first in the middle, then light the ends. If wind is blowing parallel to the windrows, light downwind first. Do not burn when wind speeds exceed 12 km/h. High winds will make control difficult and usually result in a poor burn.

Never build a windrow more than 200 feet long. Always leave 25 feet between each break and clear 50 feet between parallel windrows.

And never, ever start a burn without obtaining a permit.

For information on safe burning procedures, please contact your local ranger station, county or municipal office.
